

FEEL GOOD
INSIDE

RECTICEL insulation

 Lumix

Insulation boards for better animal welfare

Helps to reduce animal stress and undesired behaviours

Easy to install single-board solution

Good thermal performance

Deters birds and pests from nesting under the roof

FEEL GOOD
INSIDE

RECTICEL
insulation

 Lumix

Insulation boards for no-glare, natural light

Lumix is a new kind of thermal insulation board for pitched roofs on agricultural buildings. Particularly suitable for organic farming, it is designed to promote better well-being for poultry and pigs kept indoors.

We all know that animals thrive in natural light. However, excessive reflection and glare can cause stress and undesired behaviour. This can affect the quality of your products and, ultimately, your profits. Unlike artificial light, levels of daylight are not always easy to control. This is even more challenging when insulation boards are finished with a white reflective facing.

Lumix features a unique dark facer that absorbs light rather than reflecting it, creating more comfortable conditions in the shed.

Designed specifically for agricultural buildings, Lumix is supplied in long boards to make installation quick and easy. It's the ideal choice for farmers who want to create natural, healthy and stress-free living conditions for their livestock.

